

185,000

Every year, Americans lose a limb.

Most of them face it alone.

LOST LIMB RIDERS

I CAN. I WILL.

The healthcare system treats the wound.
It doesn't treat the person.

Most amputees leave the hospital with a prosthetic
and a pamphlet — and no one to call when it gets hard. No one who understands.
No one who's been there.

"I didn't know
another amputee.
I had no roadmap.
I had no one."

— John Thompson

THE MAN BEHIND THE MISSION

John Thompson lost his right leg below the knee.

The surgery saved his life. But it also dropped him into a world he wasn't prepared for — hospitals, rehab, phantom pain, prosthetic fittings, and the slow, brutal work of learning to walk again.

He didn't know a single amputee. He'd never seen someone with a prosthetic leg living a full life. He had no community, no guide, no one who truly understood.

Then he found bikers.

Not amputees. Just riders who took him in. Who didn't treat him like he was broken. Who treated him like one of them.

That changed everything.

He realized what helped most wasn't medicine. It was people.

FOUNDER

I CAN. I WILL.
Lost Limb Riders

OUR MISSION

To provide hope, peer support, mentorship,
education, and opportunity to amputees
and people with disabilities.

No one should have to navigate limb loss alone.

- Recent amputees (traumatic, medical, or congenital)
 - Long-term amputees seeking connection
 - Families and caregivers
 - Veterans and first responders
- Children and young people with limb differences

WHAT WE DO

Six programs. One mission. Every dollar counts.

+ PEER VISITS

Trained amputees visit new patients in hospitals and rehab centers

+ GROUP RIDES

Motorcycle rides that build community, confidence, and joy

+ MENTORSHIP

One-on-one matching between new and experienced amputees

+ ANNUAL EVENT

Fundraising ride and community celebration in Iowa

+ ADVOCACY

Raising awareness for amputees and people with disabilities

+ SCHOLARSHIPS

Funding rehab, therapy, and vocational training when insurance falls short

THE VISION

An annual ride. A community event. A celebration of life.

- Scenic motorcycle ride — amputees, bikers, families, everyone
- Community gathering with food, music, and kids' activities
- Vendor booths: prosthetics, adaptive equipment, disability services
- Live amputee testimonials — real stories, real strength
- Healthcare provider connections and resources
- Sponsorship and partnership opportunities

WHY IOWA

Iowa is home.

It is where John rebuilt his life. It is where the need exists — in cities and rural towns, in hospitals and homes, across every age group.

Iowa has a strong tradition of community and generosity. Lost Limb Riders will be another expression of that tradition.

The goal: grow every year until every amputee in Iowa knows Lost Limb Riders exists — and that they have a place with us.

WHERE YOUR SUPPORT GOES

WHY WE'RE ASKING FOR HELP

John has the vision. He's looking for people who've built this before.

WE'RE ASKING FOR

- ✓ Mentorship from experienced nonprofit leaders
- ✓ Guidance on governance and event planning
- ✓ Partnerships with hospitals and providers
- ✓ Connections to community networks and media

WE'RE NOT ASKING FOR

Anyone to take over our mission.

This is John's vision, John's story, and John's organization.

We want guidance from people who know what it takes to turn a mission into a movement.

I CAN.

“Losing a limb doesn’t mean losing your future.
Sometimes it simply means discovering a different road to travel — and no one should have to travel it alone.”

I WILL.
